

Farmer Groups Set to Receive a Business Boost

The Grower Group Alliance (GGA) has partnered with CBH Group to deliver high level governance training to grower group committee members.

Recognising grower groups desire to boost their business capacity, the GGA and CBH Group have come together to provide a specialised one day governance course for grower groups, delivered by the Australian Institute of Company Directors.

“This high level course will boost grower group committee members management skills, enabling them to not only drive their local grower group but also take up positions on corporate boards in the future”, said GGA Project Leader Rebecca Wallis.

“This is just another example of how the GGA works to build effective and sustainable grower groups throughout Western Australia”, said Ms Wallis.

The course is being run in Corrigin on Monday 30 June.
